

Blizzard

What am I?

Bearded Dragon Lizard

Where do I live in the wild?

Australia in the hot desert.

How am I looked after as a pet?

I live in a big tank with special lights to keep me warm and healthy. I need rocks, stones and branches to climb around on and hide under.

What do I eat?

I am an omnivore. I eat small insects, salad, fruit and vegetables.

What do I look like?

I have scaly skin with little spikes down my sides. My tail is very long and I have a soft beard that I can turn black if I am cross or scared.

Why do we love Blizzard?

Blizzard is a big laid back lizard who is happy to relax on his cushion and have fuss and attention.

My story: Hi, I'm Blizzard, the newest member of the Lion Learners East Midlands team. I came to live with Kristan from the lovely people at Red's Reptile Rescue in Derbyshire.

So far I am enjoying going out with Kristan to meet new people. I have learnt to sit still on my cushion so that you can stroke me. You might be surprised by how smooth I am. I am a leather back so have smoother scales than wild Bearded Dragon.

At home my favourite time of day is feeding time. I love chasing crickets and gobbling them up! I also enjoy having a run around outside my vivarium when I am in an energetic mood.
